I have determined that Urban Consulting's contract contains information that constitutes proprietary and/or trade secret information and the public benefit in non-disclosure does not outweigh the public benefit in disclosure under California Government Code § 6254(k) and 6255. In addition, I determined the detail pertaining to the task to be performed and the time allotted constitutes management's deliberative process and is also subject to redaction. I have not redacted the budget for the contract.

Good morning, Rena.

I'm just wondering if you have an idea of when the emails will be ready?

Also, can you let me know if Exhibit B from the contract with Urban Consulting is (a) non-existent, (b) exempt for some reason, or (c) something else?

Thanks,

Exhibit "B" seems to be missing from the contract. Is this an oversight? Is there some other document which gives UPC's rates?

Thanks,

Good evening, Rena.

I'd like to take a look at all emails between anyone at the Fashion District and anyone at the City of LA, including the LAPD, from July 1, 2016 through January 31, 2017. I'd like these along with their attachments in their native formats, but if that's not practicable, that OCR PDF with embedded attachments thing you've done in the past is acceptable.

Also, I see that you all are up for renewal next year. If you've started the process, I'd like to see all records associated with the renewal process, including but not limited to communications between the BID and the consultant and/or the engineer, contracts with and invoices from the consultant or the engineer, materials prepared by
